

- Q: If a coach or player is suspended for the balance of the playing season, are they allowed to attend the remaining games, including tournament play?
- A: Yes, however, they can not be associated with the team in any capacity before, during or after the event. The school can ban them from all events
- Q: Do the Sportsmanship rules apply to pre-season contests (i.e. scrimmages, jamborees, festivals, etc.)?
- A: Yes: Exception; Soccer Yellow cards don't count pre-season.
- Q: If a player/coach is disqualified from a contest and participates in the next scheduled event in that sport, is there a consequence?
- A: Yes, forfeiture of the event/contest in which the player/coach participates.
- Q: When is the next game suspension for the junior varsity coach who is ejected for unsportsmanlike conduct while sitting with the varsity team during a contest in the same sport?
- A: The coach may not participate in any game, at any level, until a two game suspension has been served at the level in which the disqualification occurred and must take the NFHS Teaching and Modeling Course for Disqualified Coaches prior to returning to coach in any capacity, effective 2011-12.
- Q: When is the next game suspension for unsportsmanlike conduct for the person who serves as BOTH junior varsity and varsity coach in a sport?
- A: The coach of both levels who is ejected from a contest/day of competition may not participate in the next two contests/days of competition at the level in the game which the disqualification occurred and must take the NFHS Teaching and Modeling Course for Disqualified Coaches prior to returning to coach in any capacity, effective 2011-12.
- Q: If the coach is a parent of a team member, and is disqualified from a contest/day of competition, is that coach allowed to attend the next game as a parent?
- A: During the period of disqualification, a coach shall not be in attendance at the game(s)/event(s) for which the disqualification is imposed and must take the NFHS Teaching and Modeling Course for Disqualified Coaches prior to returning to coach in any capacity, effective 2011-12.
- Q: If a parent of a team member substitutes during a coach's absence and is disqualified from a contest/day of competition, is that person allowed to attend the next game as a parent?
- A: During the period of disqualification, a coach shall not be in attendance at the game(s)/event(s) for which the disqualification is imposed. If there is a violation the contest shall be forfeited. Individual schools can determine if a disqualified student athlete is allowed to continue practice or other school activities or whether to exclude the student athlete as in the case of a disqualified coach.

- Q: If an official or school representative has knowledge of a next game suspension that was not enforced by a member school, what action can be taken?
- A: As the NHIAA is a self-policing organization, it is expected that the official or school administrator will contact that school regarding the alleged violation. A follow-up call with written documentation to the NHIAA is also required.
- Q: If, on the day a disqualification penalty is enforced, the contest is suspended, does the penalty enforcement apply to the continuation of the suspended game?
- A: No. When competition is held the penalty is enforced and it is determined that the penalty requirements have been satisfied even though the contest/day of competition is incomplete and may continue on a future date.
- Q: If a student is disqualified from the last regular season game, can a scrimmage satisfy the next contest/day of competition disqualification requirement?
- A: No. The athlete may not participate in a pre-season scrimmage prior to serving the penalty for the disqualification received.
- Q: When a coach is ejected or disqualified from a contest where is he/she expected to be for the duration of the contest?
- A: For those sports conducted indoors, the locker room is appropriate. When the sport is conducted outdoors, the options vary. Certainly the locker room is appropriate but it may be that a coach would be directed by the official to go to a team bus or some-where out of sight. An ejected coach is not allowed to become a spectator at this event.
- Q: When a player is ejected or disqualified from a contest where is he/she expected to be for the duration of the contest?
- A: Players can remain on the bench or sidelines as long as their presence does not interfere with the contest in any way. Never should a player be sent away from the site without adult supervision. Coaches are responsible for the care and safety of players and should not be placed in a position, which does not allow them to provide reasonable care and supervision.
